

An aerial photograph of a lush green forest. A circular path, possibly a paved walkway or a narrow road, winds through the trees, forming a large circle. The path is light-colored, contrasting with the dense green foliage. The overall scene is vibrant and natural.

What is Municipal Waste Anyway?

A New Definition

A row of six recycling bins in various colors: red, blue, brown, yellow, black, and green. The bins are lined up outdoors on a paved surface. The brown bin has a label that says "BROWN". The red bin has a label that says "Plastic Bottles Only".

Municipal waste is the waste we produce in households and similar to the type of waste produced by the commercial sector. It now includes what is collected from households and also from all businesses, public bodies (such as schools, universities, hospitals and local and national government buildings) and other bodies such as charities or not for profit organisations.

A photograph of two children, a boy and a girl, standing outdoors. The boy on the left is wearing a white hat with a bird pattern, a denim jacket over a colorful t-shirt, and denim shorts. He has his right arm raised. The girl on the right is wearing a bright pink t-shirt and denim jeans. They are standing next to a large, colorful, knitted object that looks like a giant sock or a piece of art, resting on a stone ledge. The background is a stone wall.

Thank you for listening.
